What's new?

Sungrow is pleased to inform our Distribution Partners of an upcoming change in our product packaging for the Sungrow battery modules SMR032. We will no longer distinguish between two different types of modules with labels A and B.

Going forward, all SMR032 modules will have the same article number, ASA00460, which will simplify storage and distribution for our partners. Additionally, all future shipments of SMR032 battery modules will remove the A and B label.

Before the update	After the update
Label A: V0 ASA00104 V114 ASA00165	No Label: V13 ASA00460
Label B: V12 ASA00282 V13 ASA00460

If our Distribution Partners currently have existing stock of modules labelled with ASA00460, they can continue to be stored and shipped together with the new, unlabeled modules.

If possible, we recommend that modules labelled as A are still shipped together, but if no other available A module, then the new ASA00460 without a label can be used as a replacement.

Sungrow ensures that this change will not impact other factors like quality, performance, or warranty of our SMR032 modules in any way.

We thank our Distribution Partners for their continuous support and collaboration.
